SCOPE AND NATURE OF TRAINING:
1. The following is a log of the training undertaken 20-27 August 1962.
20 August 1962 - Monday
0800 [ ] picked up GRBLAMED-31 at the Munich Hauptbahnhof and proceeded to Bad Tölz via QP VW.
0900 - 1500 B-31 instructed in map reading including the use of military symbols.
1500 - 1700 Organization, mission, function, and capability of the Special Forces. This section was aimed at giving B-31 an idea of what kind of support he might receive in the event of hostilities, and to indicate to him what type of support might be requested of him.
2100 - 2330 B-31 was given the opportunity to observe a company size personnel parachute drop. At this time the basic functions of the reception committee were explained and demonstrated.
21 August 1962 - Tuesday
0900 - 1200 Air Operations. B-31 was instructed on how to select, document, report on, and service drop zones and landing zones. This training was coordinated with the previously given map reading.
1300 - 1500 Air Operations. B-31 was taken out to several DZs in the Bad Tölz area and required to fill out a DZ report and to indicate the proper placement of the recognition signals and lights.
1500 - 1600 The organization of E & E nets and intelligence nets was explained to B-31 with special emphasis on security and communication.
1600 - 1700 The organization and functioning of a GW complex was explained and illustrated.
22 August 1962 - Wednesday
0800 - 1000 GW/UW Tactics. The organization of and the conduction of typical GW actions were explained and illustrated with the instruction built around the ambush, as a typical example.
1000 - 1100 B-31 was given a conducted tour of the Special Forces survival area where he was shown various types of shelters, animal traps, etc.
1100 - 1200 First Aid. This session on first aid included an explanation of what materials and equipment would be included in various medical kits that might be dropped in to him in a re-supply drop.
1300 - 1800 Map reading and Compass Field Exercise. B-31 was given the opportunity to run a compass reading and a map reading field problem over a well documented course.
23 August 1962 - Thursday
0800 - 1700 Firing Range. B-31 was taught to disassemble, clean, assemble, and fire the M-1 cal. 30 rifle, cal 45 pistol, and the cal. 45 S&W "Greasegun". He was also shown the cal. 30 BAR and instructed in its operation, but unfortunately time did not allow familiarization firing of this weapon.
1930 - 2100 Air Operations. B-31 was given the opportunity to organize and direct the ground reception of an equipment parachute drop.

24 August 1962 - Friday  0800 - 1700 Demolitions. B-31 was instructed in the construction and placement of charges, and various field expediences useful in demolition. The necessary safety measures were stressed as were the latest charges used in GW/UW operations i.e. the shape charge, ribbon charge, counter-force, etc. Under the close supervision of a qualified demo-instructor B-31 assembled and fired the charges. 25 August 1962 - Saturday  0800 - 1100 Field trip in the Bad Tölz area to illustrate the proper placement of demolition charges on bridges.  1200 returned B-31 to Munich where he was turned over to the HUCA training officer for two and one half days of refresher communications training. (Note: B-31 returned home Monday afternoon by train after a very successful training session.)
EVALUATION OF TRAINING 2. The above outlined training makes GRBLAMED-31 a much more valuable stay-behind asset. Not only has he become acquainted with the Special Forces and their requirements and capabilities, but he would now be better able to assist KUBARK in the event of hostilities. His training in air operations will enable him to receive personnel or re-supply drops and thus provide a more secure port of entry into the area by KUBARKERS or KUBARK appointed assets. His weapons and demolition training was sufficiently comprehensive to allow him to be able to make effective use of such weapons and demolitions material that he might acquire or be furnished. The instruction in the organizational and planning aspects of GW/UW gave him a good foundation in theory and brought to his attention the requirements and planning necessary to set up the guerrilla and auxiliary nets.
EVALUATION OF GRBLAMED-31 PERFORMANCE: 3. GRBLAMED-31 was an apt and diligent student. He willingly followed all instructions and indicated by his questions and comments that he understood the sometimes rather involved subjects presented. His various field trips and exercises proved that he is both physically and mentally able to perform the tasks that would be required of a guerrilla in the field. He is not easily shaken or flustered when handling the dangerous tools of the trade. His former service with the Afrika Korps was useful, especially in the handling and firing of small arms, as illustrated by performance with the M-1. B-31 is not particularly dextrous and required a good deal of practice to master the disassembly and assembly of the weapons, but he stayed with it until he could satisfactorily perform the necessary operations. His week with the 10th Special Forces not only bolstered his self confidence, but increased his confidence in our ability and intentions to be of service to him and his country. It is opinion that this man will be willing and able to help us when the time comes. He is a settled and devoted married man with many responsibilities and has given the whole problem much sober thought.
SECURITY: 4. As on previous occasions B-31 was introduced to his Special Forces instructors in alias and was always accompanied by [redacted] We were quartered in a Gasthaus near Bad Tölz where [redacted] registered for the room in alias and B-31 was not asked to register at all. During the field problems B-31 was outfitted in regulation U.S. Army fatigues, and since his english is fluent, was taken for another GI down for some special training.
MISCELLANEOUS: 5. The following incidents took place during the week of training that may be used at some later date for the establishment of bona fides. a. During the early evening of 20 August 1962 a German farmer had
